BAD WEATHER DELAYS SURVEYORS

Federal Highway Is Routed Through Irvington's Main St. Party Nearing Hardinsburg.

On account of the bad weather of last week, the survey party of the federal highway was halted to a certain extent. The party has passed through Irvington and is now on the way to Hardinsburg, reaching that point within eight or ten days.

In Irvington the highway has been routed through the city's Main street on to the top of the hill and turns to the right out by the school house.

Col. Piersall spent most of last week with the men and made arrangements to speed up the work.

The slow going trucks used to convey the men back and forth will be replaced with large cars.

If the party reaches Hardinsburg, or near there the latter part of this week, in all probability the cook outfit and camp will be moved here Sunday as it will be easy to get back and forth from here to Hardinsburg.

Arrangements have been completed for comfortable quarters while the surveyors are in Cloverport, occupying Pate and Hardin's building.

PRINTERS STRIKE IN NEW YORK FAILS OF ITS OBJECT.

The Printers League notified the executive council of the International Typographical Union last week of its willingness to resume negotiations with the local union. A conference will take place probably next Tuesday at which the details for final adjustment of the wage scale will be arranged.

It will be a month or more before the printing industry here returns to normal. Although the strike failed of its object it was one of the most serious that ever disrupted the printing trade.

An official of the Printers League figured that 10,000 workers earning from $40 to $70 a week sacrificed approximately $3,500,000. It is more difficult to estimate what the strike cost shop owners, but one plant alone places its losses at $200,000. More than 250 shops were tied up.

Magazine publishers who sent their work out of town had to pay high for it. It was reported that $23,000 was paid for getting out one issue of a periodical that ordinarily cost $9,500.

The general opinion among employing printers, however, is that the victory was worth the price. It was more than a question of wages and hours; the stability of labor was at stake, conservatives contend. Had the radical element won many publishers intended going out of business they said.—New York Sun.

JAPANESE FORAGE INTRODUCED IN SOUTH.

Fields in Northern Florida Yield 3 Cuttings A Season.

Kudzu, a native forage crop of Japan, has been successfully introduced into the United States, and according to specialists of the United States forage which merits extensive use on Department of Agriculture, it is a neglected land of the Southern States. The heavy clay hillsides and otherwise Kudzu prospers in the eastern part of United States, particularly southward, attaining luxuriant growth where the summers are warm and moist. It is largely used for ornamental purposes in most of the Southern States, the decorative vines often climbing to a height of 60 feet or more.

The Japanese utilize kudzu on rough, rocky hillsides which are too steep to be cultivated, the fiber of the portmanteaus are also manufactured cloth, an article of commerce, while stems being used to make "grass" from this fiber. The kudzu roots are rich in starch, which is used extensively in making cakes and noodles. They also make hay from the kudzu vine, it being a great delicacy for sick horses, as they will eat the kudzu readily when they refuse other feed.

Fields in northern Florida, when well established, have yielded three cuttings of hay a season and as high as 10 tons an acre. Under favorable conditions kudzu is a profitable crop, notwithstanding the fact that its perennial nature does not permit of its being used in rotation.

COUNTY BAPTISTS EXCEED QUOTA

Churches Everywhere Observe Campaign Day of Southern Baptists.

Sunday was the day for the big drive for the 75 Million Campaign among the Southern Baptists all over the country. The churches everywhere held a sunrise prayer meeting at 6 o'clock preparatory for the day's work.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the workers in the drive of the Cloverport Baptist church met for a short service and immediately afterwards started out soliciting. Then at the evening service they reported the amount of their subscriptions.

Rev. A. N. Couch the local pastor, was the church organizer; Mrs. Couch, W. M. U. organizer; R. L. Oelze, publicity; Miss Ray Heyser, J. M. Fitch and C. E. Lightfoot, boosters; Messdames Frank Ferry, Marion Weatherholt, Frank Payne and Eliza Board, Miss Mary Owen Oelze and Mr. O. F. Kinder were Captains, and each captain had four workers.

The Cloverport Baptist church had a quota of $6,000, and Sunday's subscriptions amounted to $7,423. The members here hope to reach eight or nine thousand before the drive closes next Sunday.

NO COAL SUFFERERS HERE SO FAR

Most Coal Bins Were Filled During Summer. Light Plant Still Supplied.

Whether the fuel conservation program will have to be carried out in Cloverport or not remains yet to be discovered. At least there were no observations of the order in this city on Tuesday the day after the order was issued through the press.

Perhaps the inhabitants of Cloverport are more fortunate in having fuel supplies than in most places as they may resort to either coal, gas or wood. With several small mines near here, the majority of people have their coal bins filled during the summer months and hence know very little about experiencing a coal shortage.

If the Cloverport Light and Ice Company should have a coal famine it would be hazardous times for them indeed, but so far the company has been supplied with coal from the country mines and the railroad too. At present it has a week's supply ahead, and every effort is being made to keep enough coal on hand so that the plant will not have to shut down at any time.

So far as it can be learned there is no one suffering for coal or likely to very soon.

But there were quite a number of the citizens who were thoroughly interested in this new enterprise and who journeyed down in Breckinridge Edition to see the warehouse since it had been completed. The boys and girls of the West End took advantage of the opening and spent a happy day roller-skating on the spacious concrete floor.

By Saturday the tobacco growers in Breckinridge and Hancock counties were coming in with their crops and unloading it on the floor for the first sale on Wednesday. CARPET-SCRUBBING MACHINE CLEANS THEM ON FLOOR.

A machine that looks like a good-sized vacuum cleaner, but which carries a large can of soap solution in place of a dust bag, is the latest contribution to easy house cleaning. As described in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine, the forward end of the machine holds two scrubbing brushes of sponge rubber, and an electric motor oscillates these vigorously 500 times a minute, while the cleaning compound is fed onto them. The result is that the carpets are nicely cleaned on the floor, and their colors restored.

MAKING RECORD AS A MINISTER

Rev. A. C. Chism, Formerly of Irvington Serving The Cold Springs Baptist Church

Russellville, Ky., Dec. 1. (Special)—The Rev. A. C. Chism, who has been attending school at Bethel College, Russellville, for the past few months, is happily engaged as pastor of the Cold Springs Baptist church, near Brandenburg. Altho he has a long road to travel to get to his church, yet the people whom he serves stand behind him and encourage him in every way.

The writer has known Rev. Chism from boyhood. He is the bright and happy son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Chism, who reside near Irvington.

Rev. Chism has been attending Bethel College for the past two years and is equally capable of holding a pastorate in most any church. It was our privilege to be in Russellville, last week and call on this young man and finding him to be highly appreciated by his many college mates. He speaks highly of Bethel. Says there is no other for him and he intends to finish his course there soon. He is a boy of whom Breckinridge county may be proud of.

Rev. Chism is doing a good deal of supply work around Russellville, and considering a call near Bowling Green. Since he has been pastor of the Cold Springs church in August, he has had three converts and additions otherwise. He is aiding much in the 75 million campaign. He filled the pulpit of his church with a glorious message Sunday, and the church members should count themselves highly honored in having such a splendid young man of God for their pastor.

May God's richest blessings be upon him, are the words of the writer. —William Frank.

Thomas, of Louisville; and Miss Mary Henry, Irvington; two sons, H. H. Henry, Leitchfield, and Richard Henry, Irvington.

Teach Children To Love Plants And Animals.

By Dr. J. H. Francis.

Every child should have something upon which to lavish his affections; otherwise they will weaken, for affections, like other traits, must live and grow by exercise. Notice the little girl with her doll or the boy with his hobby horse. While inanimate objects represent life and hence hold the attention of children, living things are far more interesting to them and offer greater possibilities for teaching sane and wholesome lessons. A certain small boy who had several pet hens, gladly brought their little chickens into the house and cared for them by the open fire during an untimely spring snowstorm. Another small boy habitually spent his Saturday mornings caring for his guinea pigs, while his brothers and friends were playing. With the toy the child expresses what he already knows and is; but with the living thing he discovers himself and the life about him.

The ignorance of children, and adults too, of the simplest, most ordinary facts of nature about them, is unnecessary and deplorable. We have been taught to memorize facts from books rather than to discover and appreciate them.

Give to the child some living thing that is his own to know, to love, and to care for. Some will find greatest delight in animals, such as ponies, pigs, dogs, cats, chickens, rabbits, fish, etc. Plant life, however, will interest many children more than we suspect, if they are allowed to plant and cultivate their own gardens. The lessons to be learned from either plant or animal life are so varied and important that every parent should take advantage of the opportunity and give to each child some living thing to care for, study, and love.

"What Makes It Go?"

The Answer:

The revolution of the earth on its axis every twenty-four hours possesses both a rotary and centrifugal force. The rotary force is neutralized so we do not notice it, by the tremendous size of the earth's sphere, and the centrifugal force is neutralized by the magnetic attraction which causes articles to fall instead of fly out into space when dropped.

By supplanting this neutralization of the rotary motion of the earth in its daily revolution by a counter-balancing influence secured by means of a bisecting spheroid to which a magnetic compass is attached and by astronomically calculating the proper reduction in size so that the circumference of the clock's dial bears the same relationship to its axis as the circumference of the earth bears to the axis of the earth and also utilizing the attraction of the moon to the earth, which is found to be felt upon the hour hand of the clock when this neutralization is removed by the above mentioned scientific discovery, then the hands are allowed to rotate earth, the same as the earth rotates in accord with the revolution of the on its axis, except that the calculation is such that the hands of the clock make two revolutions to the earth's one.

THE FARMER'S POSSIBLE PARTNER.

The other day the writer heard an old farmer talking. He had just sold out his entire herd of registered Shorthorns because he could no longer look after them and could not get help of the right kind to do it. Many readers, no doubt, can recall breeders who have built up good herds and have had to dispose of those herds, often just when the real results of years of work were becoming evident because there was no one available to take over the management of the business. The same thing may often be seen in farming of other kinds, but is not so noticeable as in stock-breeding.

There is always an element of tragedy in such an involuntary dispersal of a fine herd, such a futile end to a fine business conception and effort; and there is always a loss to the community and to agriculture generally when good stock are superseded by inferior or when good farming is succeeded by poor. Yet, in most cases, the farmer who has no son, or whose sons show no inclination to take up his work where he leaves off and carry it on, feels, when he thinks of it, that this must come to his own herd, his own farm. It is not so in the city as a rule. The successful city business man is likely to be all the time taking new men into his organization, to be giving employees who have shown their capacity a chance to get an interest in the business. Thus the business becomes institutionalized, and may go on for generations with no break of policy, and little change from its first definite aim.

Why could not the same thing be done on the farm? Why have not more farmers seen the possibility of keeping their business alive after they have died or become incapacitated for management and so let their works live after them?

Fortunate is the breeder, the good farmer of any kind who has a son, or sons, who becomes interested in his work, who will become partners in it with him keep it going when he no longer can. Many men have not such sons. Why can they not follow the city method? Would it not be a fine thing to see the "hired boy" on a good live stock farm grow up with a love for good live stock in his heart, become after awhile a sharer in the profits of the business, after another while a partner in it, after another while the head of it, to carry it on? Would it not be a practical thing to do in many cases? Are there not farm boys of small means all over the country longing for just such a chance; and would not the opening of such opportunity to them mean the removal of a great weight from many an ageing farmer's shoulders? Would it not perpetuate many a fine herd or flock, and greatly help the cause of better live stock to progress?

We believe it would.—Southern Agriculturist.

Uncle Jimmie is a fine old man. He smiles and pays the bill.

Tobacco was moving pretty lively last Monday. At Garfield, Harned and Hardinsburg, the streets were crowded with wagons delivering the weed at good round prices.

Cloverport is enjoying a good market for the first time in several years. More tobacco wagons and farmers coming to town, buying goods and letting loose their good money. The circulating of money makes us all happy and we get away from the worries and strikes of the outside world—Peace and plenty reigns in this good old town and county.

MAHOMET'S COFFIN

Ed. from Boston Globe.

The Senate's rejection of the Peace Treaty has created a curious situation amongst the Nations lately at war. There is a pause—a kind of ironic silence—no one quite knowing what to say. The French are frankly agast. The Germans are puzzled. The British are courteous, but reticent. Soviet Russia is aggressive. Japan wears its customary countenance of enigma.

We are in what medieval statesmen would call an interregnum: a period between the death of the old King and the crowning of the new.

Until another session of Congress, at least, the treaty is dead. Nothing can be done short of a period of weeks. And now that the vote has been cast and the treaty defeated, its friends and its foes alike find themselves asking one another the same questions.

What does its defeat signify? What meaning is its rejection intended to convey to the world? And what does it let us in for at home? Europe owes us a lot of money, to be sure. But is not that debt as much a liability as an asset?

Such is the problematical situation. Into it Senator Lodge has injected the suggestion that the treaty be made the issue of the coming Presidential campaign; that its settlement be put off another year.

Regardless of how people may have viewed the treaty hitherto, the suggestion that it be made the subject of twelve months more of political hurly-burly comes as a distinct shock. Such a course might be ideal from the politician's point of view, but the majority of us are not politicians, and it is perfectly clear that twelve months more of uncertainty would surely be felt by us most uncomfortably in all manner of ways and places, from pay envelope to sugar bowl.

Besides, all sorts of things can happen in 12 months, and failure to get the treaty ratified and European affairs brought into some semblance of settlement is a pretty effective means of assisting untoward events to take place.

Even if we waited until the next Presidential election, what assurance is there that we could get a clear judgement then? The treaty would be only one of several issues involved in the election, and quite possibly not even the major one. Indeed, the issue would have a very poor chance of being squarely presented at all; for it is not likely that the voters would understand the treaty any better then than they do now, after five months of Senatorial debate has so confused the public understanding of it; and it would not be the treaty that would be presented as a campaign issue so much as another flood of "reservations."

Senator Capper, of Kansas has written home explaining his action. He says he came to Washington open-minded and friendly to the treaty, but the more speeches he heard the more dubious he became. A good many Senators will be explaining to their home folks, but their stories will be in the main like the Kansas Senator's. It is the story of five months of the suffocating atmosphere, of the destructive, negative criticism which has so abounded in the Senate Chamber. Five months of that atmosphere is enough to make a skeptic of a St. Augustine and a neurasthenic out of Marcus Aurelius.

What the Senators all need is to get out of that politically provincial atmosphere of Washington, to go home, to meet their own people, and to learn at first-hand what they think of how the treaty has been handled. They can get a referendum that way which will tell quite as clearly as a Presidential election, and probably much more so, what the people want them to do.

Indeed, it is pretty clear now what the people want. In the shock of realizing that the rejection of the treaty

WORLD W. C. T. U. TO HOLD BIG MEETING IN LONDON.

Last World Conference Held in U. S. Six Years Ago.

London, Nov. 19.—New significance will be attached to the triennial world's convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, to be held in London next April. For the first time in the history of the organization delegates from many countries will assemble in possession of voting power and able to bring direct political weight to bear on their problems. The British Woman's Temperance Association is preparing for the meeting. The last world's conference was held in the United States six years ago. In the years that have elapsed since, it is claimed, the movement has made marked strides through its routine work has been partly checked by the diversion of many members to war activities.

Miss Agnes Black, who is supervising arrangements for the London conference, has been assured that in connection with the meeting, temperance sermons will be preached in St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and Westminster Cathedral. The Salvation Army intends dealing with the organization's work in special services in every one of its halls throughout the world. The Home Office has instructed British Consuls in South America and Eastern countries to give facilities for the delegates coming to England.

PALE, ANEMIC GIRLS NEED A BLOOD TONIC

Pepto-Mangan Enriches and Builds Up the Blood

Pallor, Headaches and Shortness of Breath Disappear

Pepto-Mangan Sold in Liquid and Tablet Form.

Why should any girl or young woman continue to have a pale, sallow complexion and a listless, run-down system devoid of energy and vitality?

Such young folks are continually unhappy and dejected simply because they accept such a condition as their misfortune, and envy their friends who are in the bloom of health and enjoying all the good things of life.

If such young women would realize that their anemic condition is probably due to thin, impoverished blood, which could easily be enriched by Gude's Pepto-Mangan, how much happier and attractive they would be.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a safe, beneficial and pleasant tonic for anyone suffering from any ailment caused by poor blood. If taken regularly for a few weeks it will enrich the blood, with thousands of the healthy red-blood cells that are needed to carry nourishment to every part of the body.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Both contain the same medicinal ingredients.

Buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

Big Gusher Struck In Allen

Is Believed to Be Largest Strike Made
East of the Mississippi River

COPIED FROM LOUISVILLE EVENING POST DATED
NOVEMBER 24, 1919

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Nov. 24.—From reports coming in from the big gusher struck on the Gardner lease in Allen county, the well is the biggest strike made east of the Mississippi river, and is a close competitor of the famous gushers of Oklahoma and Texas. The well is computed by oil men to be good for from 1,000 to 3,000 barrels of oil per day. As soon as the oil was struck it began flowing in such volumes that the entire country surrounding the well was submerged in oil. Basins were immediately built to catch the oil, and there are several lakes of oil on the farm.

The first day 2,500 barrels of oil were caught in twenty-four hours, and at least that much is computed to have been lost before the basins were constructed. It is estimated that on the first day a least 5,000 barrels of oil flowed from the well. The well has been capped and is now under pump, filling tanks placed on the lease. The well is attracting hundreds of oil men here. It is owned by ten farmers of the neighborhood, who pooled a sum to drill the well.

The gusher above described is but a few miles from the three leases owned by this company. There are many other producing wells in other directions from our leases, some very near.

Our leases offer as good prospect for a gusher as the lease on which this well was drilled, in the opinion of experienced oil men and geologists.

Out of 8 wells completed in Barren county last week 7 have paying production—only 1 dry hole. Just average results from our drilling would multiply invested dollars several fold.

Our gold note and stock offer is an honest opportunity for many to share in some of these good things.

Better act right now.

Yours for honest development and fair dealing.

ENDORSES SALE RED CROSS SEALS

Wilson Wishes Success To Movement To Raise Funds
To Fight The White Plague
In United States.

With the cordial endorsement of President Woodrow Wilson the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals will open December 1, though some have already been sold in Washington, where the Prince of Wales himself purchased some of them before his departure for New York to sail for England. The President, in a letter to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, wished the movement to sell 650,000,000 of the Red Cross Christmas Seals the "very best success" and the British Prince gave the movement his praise.

The money realized from the sale is to be devoted directly and immediately to the war on tuberculosis in Kentucky. There are hundreds of men and women in the State who have not been able to use as many of the Seals as their interest in the movement caused them to buy. So this year a Health Bond, in denominations of $5 to $100, has been issued for their benefit.

Kentucky has been given 13,000,000 of these little Red Cross Christmas Seals to sell. The State's quota of the six and a half million dollars to be raised in the nation-wide sale and nation-wide war on the white plague has been fixed at about $130,000, and if it is realized an intensive fight on tuberculosis for 1920 will be made, according to Dr. J. S. Lock, executive secretary of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association.

In an address at Louisville, Dr. Lock gave some thought provoking statistics in regard to the ravages of the white plague in Kentucky, saying that last year more than 4,600 persons had died of this disease, and that nearly thirty thousand others were suffering from it. With proper care and treatment, he said, many of these victims could be cured, and at least, with sensible precautions taught by a visiting nurse, the development of other cases from these could be prevented.

Reports from various counties of various counties of the State indicate that the quota will be raised, but that those interested in public health work must become active and present the matter properly to the public, which had always responded liberally in the Red Cross Christmas Seals campaigns in previous years.

Cigarettes

They Win You On Quality!

Your enjoyment of Camels will be very great because their refreshing flavor and fragrance and mellowness is so enticingly different. You never tasted such a cigarette! Bite is eliminated and there is a cheerful absence of any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

Camels are made of an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos and are smooth and mild, but have that desirable full-body and certainly hand out satisfaction in generous measure. You will prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Give Camels the stiffest tryout, then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price for quality, flavor, satisfaction. No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste!
